General Marking Principles for National 5 Art and Design

This information is provided to help you understand the general principles you must apply when marking candidate responses to questions in this Paper. These principles must be read in conjunction with the detailed marking instructions, which identify the key features required in candidate responses.

(a) Marks for each candidate response must always be assigned in line with these General Marking Principles and the Detailed Marking Instructions for this assessment.

(b) Marking should always be positive. This means that, for each candidate response, marks are accumulated for the demonstration of relevant skills, knowledge and understanding: they are not deducted from a maximum on the basis of errors or omissions.

(c) If a specific candidate response does not seem to be covered by either the principles or detailed Marking Instructions, and you are uncertain how to assess it, you must seek guidance from your Team Leader/Principal Assessor.

(d) It is possible that some candidates could have investigated artists and designers who are not known to the marker. In such cases, markers are expected to research the artists/designers before marking the response.

(e) Markers should consider the extent to which the candidate's response demonstrates their knowledge and understanding of art and design practice.

(f) Marks should not be awarded for mere descriptive comment. At this level, candidates are expected to justify their answers. To gain marks, candidates must develop points made. For example,

'The artist has used a lot of red in the portrait' would not gain a mark as it is simply descriptive, but

'The artist has used a lot of red in the background of this portrait. This suggests to me that the subject is angry as we tend to associate red with this emotion', would gain a mark, as this answer shows some understanding of the expressive potential and use of specific colour and a more analytical response.

(g) No marks should be awarded for simply repeating information from the legend. Where candidates develop and use this information to justify their opinion or qualify their answer, credit can be given.

(h) When entering marks in Scoris, use the annotations as follows:

To denote 1 mark awarded —

To denote a valid point where maximum marks have already been awarded —

To denote a candidate response where no marks have been awarded —

Please ensure that No Response is entered where a candidate has not attempted a question (including all optional questions not selected)

Overview

National 5 level candidates are required to demonstrate knowledge and understanding of key art and design issues, and knowledge and understanding of the work of at least two artists and two designers. The format of the questions reflects this emphasis. Each section has two equally demanding parts.

The questions are designed to test candidates' ability to respond critically to images of visual arts and design products and to form and substantiate judgements about identified aspects of art practice and design issues.

The questions require candidates to demonstrate their understanding of art and design issues in an extended response format.

Mandatory questions (Q1 and Q7)

In these questions, candidates are required to demonstrate knowledge and understanding of key art and design issues and knowledge and understanding of the work of two artists and two designers. This question assesses the candidates' ability to identify similarities and differences in artists'/designers' approaches with explicit reference to their use of visual/design elements and to make direct comparisons between identified examples of their work.

In these questions, candidates are expected to provide substantiated reasons to support their personal opinions. One mark should be awarded for each relevant, justified point, which answers the question up to a maximum of 10 marks. Markers should follow the specific marking guidance for each aspect of these questions in the marking instructions table.

Candidates who discuss only one artist/designer in their answer have not fully answered the question and may only gain a maximum of 5 marks. Should this occur, answers should be marked according to the specific marking instructions for these questions.
Candidates are expected to demonstrate their knowledge and understanding with reference to specific artworks/designs.

In SECTION 1, Expressive Art Studies, question 1, candidates will respond to the question by comparing two works of art with a common stimulus/theme.

In Expressive Art Studies questions, where the term 'artist' is used it should be interpreted in its broadest sense, covering painting, printmaking, photography, sculpture, installation, animation, film and video. They may also refer to groups of artists rather than individuals (eg artists who work in pairs/groups such as the Boyle family), and this is acceptable.

In SECTION 2, Design Studies, question 7, candidates will respond to the question by referring to two specific examples of designers' work. They will be asked about visual aspects and functional design issues in relation to the works they have selected.

In the Design Studies questions, the term 'designer' should also be inclusive of any form of design. Occasionally candidates may refer to collections of designs (particularly in fashion/textiles answers), and this is acceptable.

Candidates may also refer to groups of designers rather than individuals (eg Alessi or Timorous Beasties), and this is acceptable.

Optional questions (Q2–6 and Q8–12)

These questions require candidates to give a personal response to one selected image from a choice of supplied images. They will demonstrate their understanding of specialist art and design vocabulary when commenting on key aspects of art and design practice and justifying their answers and opinions.

One mark should be awarded for each relevant, justified point, which answers the question up to a maximum of 10 marks. Markers should follow the specific marking guidance for each aspect of the questions provided in the table.

If a candidate answers more than one optional question in either section of the question paper, the answers should be marked and the response that gains the highest marks should be recorded.

In SECTION 1, Expressive Art Studies, they will comment on an unfamiliar image, demonstrating an understanding of important aspects of the artist's work.
In SECTION 2, Design Studies, they will comment on an unfamiliar image, demonstrating understanding of specific design issues

Marking Instructions for each question

Section 1 – Expressive Art Studies

Question			Max Mark	General Marking Instructions	Specific Marking Instructions
1.			10	All candidates will answer this question. Candidates are expected to demonstrate their knowledge and understanding with reference to two specific artworks. The two selected examples of artwork should clearly contain similar subject matter or be based on the same theme, eg two portraits, two still life paintings with similar objects, two coastal landscapes, two works based on war, fantasy, dance, etc. This question allows candidates to compare artists' approaches with explicit reference to specific elements. In the extended response, candidates will make direct comparisons between selected examples of artwork. They will also be asked to make a judgement on a specific issue. They will be required to give two reasons for their response. Candidates who discuss only one artist can only gain a maximum of 5 marks. Answers should be marked according to the specific marking instructions should this occur.	The maximum marks available for this question is 10 marks. Candidates' responses can be credited in a number of ways. Candidates are asked to compare each artist's use of : • subject matter • composition/arrangement • colour This will include a comparison of how the artist has used the selected elements. Candidates will also identify which of the two works they find most successful, and explain the reasons why. A maximum of 8 marks are available for comparing the two selected artworks. Appropriate answers here would include commenting on: • the choice of subject matter and its effect on each work • the compositional techniques used and/or arrangement and the effect on the works • each artist's use of colour for expressive effect and how this has been achieved • any other well justified comments relating to subject matter, composition/arrangement and colour. Candidates who have not responded on subject matter, composition/ arrangement and colour cannot gain the full 8 marks available; at least one valid point must be made on each aspect of the question. A total of 2 marks are available for identifying which of the artworks the candidate considers to be most successful, giving two reasons. Marks should not be awarded for repeating earlier points, if these points have not been developed in any way. Where candidates' answers only discuss one artist in their answer, marks should be awarded as follows: A maximum of 3 marks are available for discussing artwork with reference to one artist's use of the specific elements. A maximum of 2 marks are available for explaining why they consider the artist's work successful, giving reasons.

Question			Max Mark	General Marking Instructions	Specific Marking Instructions
2.			10	Candidates are asked to choose and respond to one other question from this section of the paper. There is a choice of five different questions for personalisation and choice (Q2–6). Each of these questions asks candidates to: • comment on the artist's methods or approach to the subject and their use of specific elements • give their opinion on the work, justifying their opinions. Marks should not be awarded for mere descriptive comments or simply repeating information from the legend. To gain marks, candidates must develop points made. Any substantiated comments and valid, justified personal opinions should be rewarded. These opinions can be either positive or negative.	The maximum marks available for this question is 10 marks. Candidates' responses can be credited in a number of ways up to a maximum of 10 marks. This question asks candidates to: • comment on the work referring to subject matter, colour and pose • give their opinion on the mood and atmosphere of the piece and two reasons Marks can be awarded for relevant substantiated comments or points relating to the artist's approach to the painting. One mark should be awarded for each relevant point made up to the maximum of 8 marks in total. A maximum of 2 marks may be awarded for giving reasons for their personal opinion on the mood of the piece. One mark should be awarded for each relevant point made up to the maximum of 2 marks in total.
